It is related to the acceptance of header. This is used with post and put requests. ajax post requested with jquery and php body {font-family: calibers; } .Box {Margin-Bottom: 10px; } .box label {display: inline-block; Width: 80px; Align text: right; Margin-right: 10px; } .Box Input, .Box Textarea {Border-Radius: 3px; Border: 1px solid #ddd; Padding: 5px 10px; } .BTN-Submit {Margin-Left: 90px; } Ajax Post Request with JQuery and PHP - clue mediator Name: Surname: email: message: here we are not adding any validation because our goal is to provide the simple explanation of the article. The JQuery library we have to include the JQuery library below in the main section of the page. email: message: $ (Document).Ready (Function () { $ ("#invio"). Click (Function () { (Var Firstname = $ ("#firstname"), Val (); Var Lastname = $ ("#lastname ") val (); var email = $ (" #email "). Val (); var Message = $ (" #Message "). Val (); If (Firstname == "" || Lastname == "" || email == "" || Message == "") {alert ("fill out all fields."); success: function (date) {error: function (xhr, status, error) {4. contain Is the header sent to the server, specifying the data format (i.e. the content of the body of messages) which is located to the server. Take the data from the back-end server and update the part of the web page without reloading the entire web page . Basic Ajax Post Request $. Ajax ({Type: "Post", URL: "Script.php", Date: {Name: 'John', Success: Function (Data) {Co Nsole.log (Data); } . Error: Function (xhr, status, error) {console.error (xhr); }}); Error: Function (xhr, status, error) {Furthermore, we can use a parameter of the type of data, that is json that helps us to receive the data in format provided by the server. It is time to create an example, so I would like to divide this article into separate steps. The above examples showed an example request, in the same way the answer sent by the server can also have the heading of the type of content that specifies that the server is sending this way: ===== SAMELTD Answer: http/1.1 201 Created content: Application/XML > $ 199.02 22 December 2008 06:56 ... Both not interchangeable. As for your question, contentType: "application/json; charset = utf-8"; data type: "json", here you are sending json data using the UTF8 character set and you expect json data from the server. In this example we will create an HTML module that contains the fields as name, and -mail and message and manage the request for post ajax on Click on the Send button. Pass to make the Ajax Post request with JQuery and Php1. The data are simply transmitted to the successful manager based on the mediator of the clue A A A - April 13 2020Today we will explain how to make the request for Ajax Post with JQuery and PHP. In addition, we will add the button to send the form data via Ajax Call.check the following code in which we only created the HTML module. $. Post ['Lastname']; $ data ['email'] = $. post ['Message']; $ Data ['Message'] = $. post ['Message']; Echo Json_encode ($ data); Exit; ?>* Write your logic to manage the data* such as the storage of data in the database $ data ['name'] = $. post ['Firstname']; ===== SAME REQUEST; GET /Somefolder /index .html http/1.1 host: mystie.org accepts: application/xml > ===== The request above expects XML from the server. According to jquery for the data type, the json type analyzes the data file recovered as a javascript object and returns the object built as result data. $ (Document). Redy (Function () { $ ("#invio"). Click (Function () { (Var Firstname = $ ("#firstname"), Val (); Var Lastname = $ ("## Lastname "). Val (); Var email = $ (" #Email "). Val (); Var Message = $ (" #Message "). Val (); IF (Firstname == "" || Lastname == "" || email == "" || Message == "") {Alert ("Fill all fields."); Return False;} $. ajax ({Type: "Post", URL: "Submission.php", Date: {Firstname: Firstname, Lastname: Lastname, Email: Email, Message: Message}, cache: False, subsequent: Function (Data) {Alert (Date); } . Error: Function (xhr, status, error) {console.error (xhr);}});}); $ (Document). Redy (Function () { $ Click (function () {var firstName = $ ("#firstName"). Val (); var lastName = $ (" #LASTName "). Val (); var email = $ ("#email "). Val (); var message = $ ("#message "). val (); }; {Alert ("please fill all the fields."); Next: Function (Data) (error: function (xhr, status, error) (in the code above, we used the sending file.php as a URL required to manage the request in the back-End and also view the response via alert method. let's combine the code above together and look at how it appears. $. Post ['Lastname']; $ data ['email'] = $. post ['email']; $ Data ['Message'] = $. post ['Message']; 5. Piu you can insert it in the database or use it in your further logic.
